SUBURBAN INTELLIGENCE.

NEW JERSEY.

Attended Palse Presences.—A man o'Amed John Bender was arrested yesterday after noon on the thurge of obtaining goods to the amount of $112 from Uniques & Hentize, of thooken, under false pretences. He will be brought 'up for examination terusy afternoon a little boy named Theodore Mus cab, five years old, was playing opposite the residence of his parents, No. 233 Railroad avenue, when he was knocked down and run over by a lager beer truck belonging to Mr. Schalk of Newark. The poor child survived but a short time despite all the efforts of a physician to releve him.

THE ALLEGED CHARITY SWINDLE .- Mr. Sidney B Revaus, Superintendent of Public Schools, re-Reived a letter yesterday from the Rev. Mr. Wheeler, enclosing a draft for the amount reatized by the sale of old books collected from the children in the schools for the benefit of the poor children in the South. He regrees that the affair evoked so much comment, and insists that he was actuated throughout by honorable motives. He maintains that he said to the rig merchant those books only which were positively worthiess. Mr. Bevans will consult the children as to the disposition to be made of this money. There is inthe doubt that Mr. Wheeler intended to apply the money realized by the sale of the old books to the purchase of other books for the hencyolent object aforesaid.

MELANCHOLY SCHOOL-Yesterday morning Mr. Albert Magosch was found suspended by a rope tied around his neck and fastened to a hook in the roof of his cellar, in his residence at West Hoboken.
Coroner Crane held an inquest, and the jury returned a verdict of suicede wave laboring under a flot insanity. The deceased was a well known contractor and was recently unsuccessful in his enterprises, which probably led to his sad end.
A Boy Ross His Fathers.—James Carroll, a boy

welve years old, was brought before Recorder Pop yesterday morning charged with having robbed his of $200. The youth, after some hesitation e story in a stratgutforward manner, showing told the story in a straightforward manner, showing how he neceed his poor father or various sums by little and little thi he grabbed the sum of $100 yes-terony morning. He bought chickens, goats and pigs for he aconsement and gave them away quite abernaly. Occasionally he went with two pessinke himself named Ned Collins and Tim Kenny to the New York theatres and had oyster suppers. The ind was committed to the county juil.

Bergen City.

Burglary.—The residence of Mr. Conkey, in Belmont avenue, was entered on Monday night by burgiars, who carried off thirty dollars in money and several articles of clothing. The police have ob-tained no clue to the thieves as yet.

CONDITION OF CONDUCTOR GAFFINEY,-The physician in attendance on conductor Gaifney reported last evening that his patient showed symptoms of last evening that his patient showed symptoms of improvement, and will probably recover. It was a man named Colrain who threw the stone, and not Lee, as already stated. While Lee and Gailney were engaged in an attercation Colrain hurled the stone at Gailney's head. Lee was admitted to ball yesterday in the sum of $1,000, but Colrain decamped. A warrant was issued for his arrest yesterday morning by flecorder Aldridge, of Hudson City, and as the fellow's inding place is known to a certain constable there is little doubt that the accused will have to pay a visit to the county jail.

Twenty Cents of More Consequence Than a Man's Lite-A Model Conductor-Deceased's Name and History-The Body Not Found. According to the most reliable and matured accounts of the affair whereby a man lost his life on Monday evening by tumbling overboard from the

Hackensack bridge of the New Jersey Railroad, the circumstances leading to the sad occurrence are of a shocking description and in corroboration of the stateme, which appeared in yesterday's Herald. Deceased was a constable of Harrison township, named Patrick Lane, a quiet, sober, honest man and

A Man Launched into Eternity for the Want

Last evening I was a passenger to Newark by the 6.20 train from New York to Newark, by the New Jersey Railroad. The train stopped as usual at West End, and had proceeded just on to the Hackensack bridge, when the signal rope was pulled to stop. Being quite some distance on the bridge, and know ing it was a pitch dark night, with a drizzling rain I opened the window to ascertain the cause of the detention, when, to my horror, I saw that a man had been put off the car bea man had been put of the car behind the one I was sitting in, and was then acrambling on the adjoining track, evidently fearing he was in dauger from an approaching train, the lights from the carriages and conductor's tamp being rejected upon the track. In another moment the poor fellow, no doubt thinking he was on terra firmer, got over a large beam of timber—say eighteen inches high and broad—and fell headlong into the water and was drowned. I nave ascertained this morning from a gentleman who was in the same car with the poor fellow that he was neither tipsy nor in any way abusive to the conductor. Now, Mr. Editor, allow me to ask through your columns and in the name of an outraged public, that the President of the New Jersey Railroad immediately suspend this young sprig of a conductor, and also that the New Jersey authorities, when the body is found, will mete out the severest punishment the aso that the New Jersey atthorities, when the body is found, will mete out the severest punishment in law will admit of. What are we coming to if, under the unfortunate circumstances of a man lossing his teact and not having twenty cents about him, he is to be pitched from a railway car on a bridge into tee river below? Yours, truly, A. COMMUTER, NEW YORK, NOV. 30, 1860.

Police Court, before Justice Mills, Mrs. Adelaide Munch and one William Blaisdell were arraigned for examination on the charge of having violated the seventh injunction of the decalogue, the husband of the woman, Edward Munch, of 14s Ludiow street, being the accuser. It appears that she absconded from her home some six months ago, on account, as she alleges, of her husband's harsh and cacetteed the "protection" of Elaisdell, with whom she has been living at No. 51s Market street, in this city, with two of her five children. She denies that any criminal act had been committed, though she admitted that the children and Blaisdell occupied the same room with her. The magistrate admitted the woman to ball and remanded Elaisdell to custody for further examination. As the inther was best able to take care of the children he advised him on the subject. Thereupon cusued a most affecting scene. One of the children a girl between tweive and thirteen years of age, ran to the mother and cluing to her, while she solved bitterly. DECISION IN THE HEMMING-BONHACK CASE-THEY ARE HELD IN TWENTY THOUSAND DOLLARS EACH FOR TRIAL.—Adjust Hemming and Charles :
Bonback, proprietors of a match factory at Hudson
City, were before United States Commissioner John Whitchead yesterday to hear the decision in their several cases. As already repeatedly stated in the HERALD It will be remembered that they were arrested some month or so ago on the charge of purchasing and using counterfeit one cent proprietary stamps, alleged to have Leen manufactured by Kempton Rapon et al., on Staten Island.
They were held to ball in the sum of $10,600 each, and soon after arrested on other charges and held in an additional $2,500 each. Mr. Whitehead decided that theirs was a case that would have to be brought before the United States authorities, and took occasion to make some remarks
not at all reliabable to the defendants.
Among other remarks Mr. Whitehead said that while they had virtually admitted that the stamps used were counterfeit they had never attempted to produce evidence as to where they had procured them, though they gave names and piaces in New York where they said they had procured them, particularly as they had been afforded abundance of time to obtain evidence on their own behalf. They were held to ball for trial on the third Thessian Janary, at Trenton, in the sum of $10,000 each, their bondsmen being likewise required to give an additional $10,000 security each.
This virtually makes the bail $20,000 each.

The foregoing cases were all postponed till the next term, when, as the Court remarked, a new judge will pressly

AN INPAMOUS CONVICT DISCHARGED.-Yesterday a notorious burgiar named White, irom Warren county, was discharged from the State Prison, his period of sentence having expired. During his incarceration he carned for himself unenvisible recognition by being one of a gang who escaped upwards of a year ago by sawing through the chain shop and feiting the jainior. While at large he perpetrated several depredations, for which indictments are now penuling against thin in the Warren county court, the authorities of which have been awaiting his discinaries to rearrest him.

AN IMPORTANT CONSTITUTIONAL QUESTION.

The New Jersey Court of Errors and Appeals Its Relation to the Prerogative Court-Jurisdiction of the Chanceller. In the Court of Errors and Appeals at Trentor yesterday opinions were read in the cases argued during the term. The first opinion was delivered by Chief Justice Beasley on a motion to dismiss an appeal (in the celebrated case of Harris vs. Cornell) from the Prerogative Court to the Court Appeals, on the ground that the legislative enactment ordaining such a provision was unconstitutional. An act was passed by the Legislature in 1869 providing that peal could be made from the Prerogative Court to this tribunal for final adjudication. Chief Justice Beasley held that the legislative body is supreme in every respect except by constitutional restraint, and in this case it is not questioned whether such a power exists in the Legislature, but in this case it is not questioned whether such power is taken from them by the constitution of the State. After citing from that mstrument the clauses pertaining to the formation of courts, the Chief Justice said that it did not leave this all-important work to other hands, for were this feature overlooked there would be no such thing as fixity in legal tribunals. The peculiar quality of a constitutional court is not sus-ceptible of change in its fundamental principles except by a prescribed course. The Legislature has except by a prescribed course. The Legislature has no power to modify the jurisdiction of any court formed by constitutional provisions except by changing the constitution. Placing a new class of cases within the Court of Errors and Appeals, is in har

Subscription Concert Last Evening

Gratifying Success.

Last evening the opening of the hall or lecture room of the new building of the Young Men's Christian Association-a full description of which was given in the HERALD of yesterday-was made the occasion for a grand subscription concert. Atthough the tickets of admission were sold at five collars spiece, long before the hour fixed for the com-mencement of the concert every sent in the place was occupied, and when it did commence standing room could scarcely be had for love er money, or both combined. Indeed, no better idea can be had of the success of the concert than that the proceeds derived from the sale of the tickets gave the association sufficient funds to pay off the debt on the organ and the piano which were used during the evening. The programme was certainly long enough, and as weil selected as could have been desired by the most fastidious of the lovers of good music. It opened with an overture and nocturne from "Midsummer Night's Dream," by Roncoin, with the inevitable cavatina, "Lazo el Factotum," by Rossini, followed, when Miss Nettie Sterling sang "Morgen Gruss" by Mendelssonn, and "Ich Grole Nicht" by Schumann. The remainder of the programme was as follows:—Solo, pinno, "Rondo Capriccioso," Mendelssonn, Mr. Richard Hoffman; Vaise, "Romeo et Juliette," Gounod, Miss Clara Louise Kellogg: Solo, "Those bright black eyes," Kucken. Mr. William J. Hill; duo, "Vogas Tonio Benedetta," Rossini, Miss Keliogg and Miss Sterling; organ overture, "Stradella," Flotow, William Berge; organ, I, Overture, "Zampa," Heroid; 2, National airs, Morgan, Mr. George W. Morgan; canzoni, "La Floraja," Bergmani, Miss Clara Louise Kellogg; pana caprice, on the task of the Louise Kellogg; pana caprice, on the self-grid of the Crispino," Mr. Richardfiloffman; bailad, "My Head is Like to Rend, Willie," Phelps, Miss Nettle Sterling; song, Stigelli, Mr. William J. Hill; organ, miscellaneous, Wil iam Berge.

It is almost needless to state that Miss Kellogg was greeted with enthiusiasm by the antience. She was, as a matter of course, the attraction of the concert, but her selection from "Romeo et Juniette," although it gave her every opportunity to show the null power and range of her voice, was not as much relisted as was ner immittable rendering of "Coming through the Rye," which she gave on being encored. The duo "Vogas from Senedetta" was very sweetly sung by Miss Kellogg and Miss Sterling, and "La Floraja," sung by the former, was decidedly her best effort during the evening, sithough it must be said that the delicionalty coquettish way she warbled the "Maiden Fair" (accompanyling herself on the pisao at the same time) could not have been exceled. "My Head is Like to Rend, White," was given by Miss Sterling with a depth of pations and feeling that kept the audience bound as by a spell white she sang the sad refrain, and which was given by the art manner. Mr. Morgan's execution of the overture from "Stradella" was given on the organ by Pr. William Berge, under whose direction Roncom, with the inevitable cavatina, "Lago ei Factotum," by Rossini, followed, when Miss Nettie

DEATH OF A WOMAN FROM MALPRACTICE.

A Magnetic Practitioner Consured. For the last six months Mrs. Ann Moan, whose husband lives at No. 227 Elizabeth street, has been in poor health, and, after being treated by several physicians who were unable to render any permanent aid, the brother of Mr. Moan recommended John Scott, a magnetic practitioner, living at No. 91 Schermerhorn street, Brooklyn. Mrs. Moan accordingly called on Mr. Scott, who made a diagnosis of the case and said she had no cancer, as was suspected by other medical men, and expressed the hope that he could cure her, applying friction treattreatment continued from the 1st of September tin the 19th inst. On the 22d Mrs. Moan was delivered of a stillborn, eight months child, and on Friday named Patrick Lane, a quiet, sober, honest man and the head of a family of five children and a wife. He had been to Jersey City on business, and had purchased a return ticket. He had when leaving home about $150 in cash. On the way home, in the twenty minutes past six o'clock train from New York, when nearing West End, the conductor, one James Parker, came along to collect the tickets. Lane could nowhere find his return check, and having only some ten cents or so could not pay again the full fare, though he offered what he had. It was recised, and the conductor passed on. West End was reached and a stoppage made, but Lane was left in his seat undisturbed. It was not until the train had reached the centre of the Hackensack bridge that it was stopped and poor Lane ordered to get off. He did so quietly, and without the slightest disposition to be quarrelsome. He had scarcely touched the wooden platform covered with zinc, rendering the surface quite slippery, when he tumbled overboard and was drowned. The body had not been recovered up to last evening.

The law, it is said, requires that in such cases as a man not having a ticket he shall be put off at the first stopping place. It is against the law to stop a train on a bridge; so that it the statements made be rue the conductor, asde from what might be expected in common finantity, is doubly culpable. A strict investigation will take place in the matter. The occurrence naturally has caused a great deal of excitement. last she died. After the examination of one or two other witnesses Mr. Scott was recalled and testified that he gave deceased some drops, the extract of the honey bee," of which one drop composed a dose; also gave her some liquid medicine consisting of indian hemp, juniper betries and sassafras, of which be ordered a dessert spoonful, and also a bottle of homeopathic pills consisting of pulsatilio; do not practice medicine, but give innocent remedics occasionally; it had never occurred to the witness to produce premature delivery by friction.

Deputy Coroner Josph Cushman had made a postmortem examination on the body of deceased; found a cancerous mass about the size of an orange extending into the binder; in the doctor's opinion death was caused by cancer of the uterus and bladder accelerated by the premature birth, in answer to a question propounded by Coroner Schirmer, Dr. Cushman said that this syste mot friction treatment of a woman who is pregnant will produce a miscarriage.

The verdict being received, Mr. Scott advanced and asked the Coroner if he was at liberty to go, and received an animative reply. Before leaving, however, Coroner Schirmer administered a severe reprimand to Mr. Scott, in which he was most distinctly given to understand that if brought before him again for malpractice he might not escape so easily as he had done this time.

Scott received that he did not except to be once.
